MESSAGE FROM THE HEAD

This week the Year 6 pupils went off to St Albans Abbey for the annual school's carol service. I am told that the children sang beautifully and were a credit to the school. Emily did a particularly good job in her role as the Innkeeper, speaking clearly and confidently in front of the packed cathedral.

Year 2 had their last Lego league session at the Library this week. The children are given a series of tasks where they build different structures during the afternoon. The focus is on team work and communication. The class tell me that a famous singer came in to entertain them this week, with the children building the items that she needed for her next concert. It was also great to see some of the parents there.

The girl's football team were in action on Tuesday against How Wood. It was a tight game with How Wood just coming out on top 3 - 0.

This morning we had our first music assembly of the year, with some of our cellist and pianist performing in front of the school. Well done to all the children who played beautifully.

This morning the children took part in a Christmas arts morning, where they worked together across the year groups taking part in different art and design activities. We have also had lots of parents here who were helping prepare for the Christmas Fair - we are looking forward to seeing lots of you at the Fair this evening. Thank you for giving up your time. I know it is a lot of work but we really do appreciate the support.

And lastly, I have some sad news for the school. Amanda Handley, one of our Year 6 teachers, has made the decision to retire in the May half term. She is seeing the class through the SATs tests but will then be off enjoying the sunshine and a well deserved holiday. She has worked at Aboyne for 20 + years and will be very much missed. I will keep you updated on staffing for 2024-25 as the year progresses.

Have a lovely weekend!

Best wishes, Keith Smithard.
